

DATABOX USF™ SHELVING SYSTEM

The DataBox USF™ shelving system is an open filing system designed for high-density filing environments. DataBox USF is commonly used in highly active file rooms, such as medical and dental offices. DataBox USF is an ideal solution when immediate access to a large number of files is required. With the DataBox USF system you can easily file, retrieve, shift and relocate your files.

Better organization

File shifting and relocating is quick and easy thanks to the DataBox USF system's rail-track design. Files are neatly stored in convenient and durable plastic file boxes that hang from rails. The boxes slide easily on the track, opening space where and when you need it.

Improved access to your information

The open shelving format means you can access your information quicker. The system provides full visual and physical access to your files at all times.

Better management of your space

The DataBox USF system's flexible, modular design allows for optimal use of your available floor space. With our wide range of size options you can customize the DataBox USF shelving system to suit your specific needs. As your filing needs change, you can easily and economically add on additional DataBox USF shelving units or configure the units you already have.
